FOREWORD

In the last four years we at Coventry High have grown in age and in wisdom. Deep and lasting impressions have been made upon us. Our entire environment here in school and at home has played an important part in this development. Our academic and social activities now will later determine our position in life. These, our most significant years, have been preserved in this edition of the KNOTTY OAK. We hope that in future years we may be able to reminisce this most formidable and momentous period with pride and pleasure.

DEDICATION

This edition of the Knotty Oak is dedicated to a man who aided in the improvement of the Senior Class through unsurpassable understanding, unceasing aid, both in and out of the classroom, and unfailing guidance in all aspects of academic and social life. As the Advisor of the Business Board of the Knotty Oak he has worked extremely hard to make this yearbook a success. In the classroom he is exceptionally well-versed, and he succeeds in making each and every pupil feel important, not only as a student but also as an individual.

We, the Class of 1963, therefore wish to show our appreciation by dedicating this our Knotty Oak to . . .

Something Coming
Authority!
Who or what
Can it be?
It hasn't a gun,
A whip, or a knife,
But look what it's done
With little strife.

Could it be,
Yes, it could!
The council agree
It's easy to see,
The faculty functioning
As it should.
Mr. Cooper says to Congratulate me and you,
For cooperating with all means
And for not going to extremes.

Could it be,
Yes, it could!
All are here — present —
As they should.
The faculty
For '63,
The administration, too,
Are around the corner
Waiting —
So turn the page — do!

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The five members of the school committee meet twice a month to discuss all school problems. The members of the committee are elected to four year terms and are given the job of maintaining all Coventry schools.

A few of the committee's responsibilities include the hiring of all teachers and other school personnel, the buying of buses for transportation to and from school, the handling of school funds, and the preparing of an annual report on the budget.

The high standards achieved in the Coventry School System are due to the hard work of our School Committee.

To the Class of 1963:

The future will be an exciting one. It will be one that calls for courage, adventurousness, imagination, and a determination to devote our energies to those things that are central to the purposes of democratic freedom, the achievement and the dissemination of knowledge, the cultivation of the intellectual life, and above all the dignity of the individual and the brotherhood of man. I commend you and individually challenge you to pick up the gauntlet to make this a better world in which to live. My best wishes to you all.

HENRY J. COOPER
Superintendent of Schools

AND ADMINISTRATION

To the class of 1963:

You now possess a good basic education. Your success from this point on will not depend so much upon what you have learned in books as it will upon the attitude and habits you have acquired in the past few years. If you have learned that hard work was necessary for success in school, this lesson will bear fruit in the future. If you have learned that a positive attitude toward your studies and toward those who work with you has brought you greatest comfort in school, you have learned another valuable lesson for the future.

The next few years will find you seeking your proper place in our society. You have my very best wishes in this endeavor. I would also wish you great joy in your personal lives — in your home, in your recreation, and in your vocation. It has been a real pleasure working with your class.

REUEL A. SHELDON
Principal

To the Class of 1963:

America is another name for opportunity. To us Americans much has been given; of us much is required. It behooves us, as citizens of this great country, to aim at perfection in everything, even though in most things it is unattainable. What are the aims which are at the same time duties? — they are the perfecting of ourselves and the happiness of others.

Unearned security during recent years has had the effect upon our national habits of mind which the lazy enjoyment of unearned income so often has upon the descendants of a hard-working grandfather. It has caused us to forget that man has to earn his security and his liberty as he has to earn his living.

May you, the Class of 1963, have high aims and lofty purposes! "Dream manfully and nobly, and thy dreams shall be prophets."

FRANCIS K. SEARLE
Vice Principal

ENGLISH

MADELYN D. WEDLOCK
Pembroke College, A.B.
Chairman, English Department
Chairman, Honors Day

Success or failure in all subjects and in life itself is largely dependent upon one's ability to communicate. The goal of the English Department is to develop maximum communication skills within the capabilities of each student. We English teachers hope to aid our students to think more clearly, to listen more intelligently, to express their ideas in speech and in writing with greater clarity and correctness, and to read with increased understanding and appreciation.

The attainment of these general objectives has been approached through the following specific procedures: the appointment in September 1960 of a certified teacher of speech, and the institution in Grade 10 of a required course in speech; the appointment in September 1961 of an experienced reading teacher who worked with students in Grades 9 and 10 last year and who implemented a schoolwide program in reading improvement this year; the replacement of worn-out literature texts with new books which meet the needs of students of various levels of ability; the increased use of audio-visual aids in 1961-1962; and the offering of good books at low cost through the Teenage Book Club.

SCIENCE

JAMES K. MONTAGUE
Massachusetts State Teachers
College, B.S., M.Ed.
Chairman, Science Department

Politically, socially, and morally science is inescapable. With this in mind the Science Department has set as its objectives the preparation of students for continued study in the professional field as well as informing all of the impact of science on human life. In this way they will be prepared to conduct themselves as intelligent citizens.

The Science Department offers courses in General Science, Biology I and II, Chemistry I, Practical Chemistry, Physics I, and Practical Physics. In addition to these formal offerings, the department participates in the school and state science fairs, sponsors advanced students who participate in the University of Rhode Island seminars, and submits student projects to the Westinghouse Science Talent Search Program and the Future Scientists of America Program. Other special projects carried on by the department include field trips to universities and industrial sites within the state, formal recognition of outstanding science students, and the conducting of a science club.

SOCIAL STUDIES

MARY J. MURPHY
Pembroke College, A.B.
Chairman, Social Studies
Department

The courses, activities, and units of instruction in the social studies curriculum are designed to acquaint students with different countries of the world and their people; the operation of our local, state, and national governments; the history of our own country; and the role which they must play as responsible citizens of their own communities.

Special projects of the department include field trips to Sturbridge Village and to the United Nations in New York City for American History and American Government classes, respectively. Coventry participates in the Rhode Island Model Legislature program and awards prizes for excellence in current events. Students in American Government plan activities culminating on the day when they take over the chief elective and appointive officers of the town.

Use is made of films, filmstrips, recordings, maps, speakers, and field trips whenever it is felt that these devices lend themselves to a better understanding of the subject being presented and further the goal of the department by helping to develop a mature and informed citizen.

State Teachers College, B.Ed.
Chairman, Foreign Languages
Department

Bonjour! Buanas dias! Salvete, vos omnes! Greetings from our language classes! Our general aims include the development of the ability to read and write foreign languages, to speak them and to understand them when spoken. To achieve these aims the instructional activities stress language as a method for communication of thoughts, ideas, and emotions, characteristic of a way of life of a particular people.

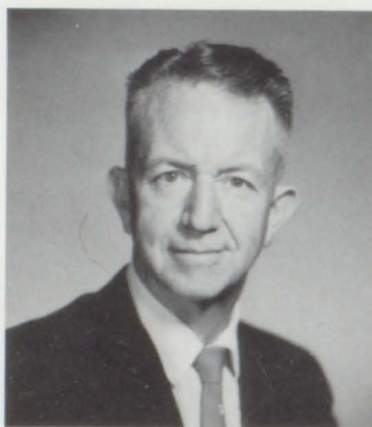

Courses are offered in Latin I, II, and III, Spanish I, and II, French I, II, and III, and an exploratory course in Language Culture.

Every effort is made to provide for individual differences and to allow the student to participate in many creative-expression experiences.

Special projects of the Language Department include annual exhibits, field trips, awarding of honors and prizes for achievement, participation in national examinations, and school assemblies.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

PHILIP SHEFFIELD GREENE
United States Military
Academy, B.S.
Michigan State University, M.A.
Director, Guidance
Chairman, Coventry High School
Scholarship Committee

The emphasis of the guidance program is individual guidance for the individual student. It is believed that through individual guidance the broad purposes of the program can best be achieved. These purposes are to assist the individual student to adjust to problems and situations, and to effect the highest possible realization of his innate abilities. In furtherance of individual guidance, continuous efforts are made to relate to the home and to the community when the best interests of the student are involved.

To help the student with these purposes in mind there is maintained in the Guidance Department much occupational, educational, and social information. This information is available at all times to students to assist them in career choices, in the selection of high school courses, in choosing a college or other kind of higher education, and in solving problems arising from group situations.

SECRETARIAL STAFF

MRS. BEVERLY GREENE

MRS. JEAN HODGE

MISS SHIRLEY KETTLE

The financial problems and necessary paper work are ably handled by Coventry's secretarial staff, which consists of a secretary to the superintendent, Mrs. Marion Mathewson; a secretary to the principal, Mrs. Beverly Greene; and a general staff, Mrs. Jean Hodge, Miss Shirley Kettle, Mrs. Margaret M. Dwyer, whose duties include typing records, mimeographing notices, and assembling attendance records. Undoubtedly, Coventry High would not be able to function properly without the assistance of this fine staff.

LIBRARY

MRS. ELIZABETH C. G. HUDSON

The Coventry High School library is a continuous source of information for eager, appreciative students. Here one can browse amid the reference books, magazines, and volumes of knowledge. The librarian ably assists students in choosing literature needed for studies and for pleasure.

MRS. GWENDOLYN DUNBAR

Despite the many problems our present system of double sessions poses, the library remains unaffected; it remains open during both morning and afternoon sessions, and an assistant librarian, is on duty for the last four hours of the latter session.

MRS. MARY GREENE

SCHOOL HEALTH

There are three primary objectives in the school health program: health education, improving the school environments, and offering health services to the student.

Through various procedures and examinations the nurse-teacher can evaluate a pupil's health. When corrective measures become necessary, she is always available to give helpful, friendly advice.

KITCHEN STAFF

MRS. CLAIRE GREENE

MRS. ALFREDINE HAMPSON

MRS. MARTHA COURNOYER, MRS. GENE SIMAS

CUSTODIAL STAFF

MRS. MARY PLAZIAK

The courteous efficiency of the custodial staff of Coventry High School is known and appreciated by students and teachers alike. Any incident, whether trivial or serious, is attended to promptly by a member of the staff.

MR. JOHN MALIKOWSKI

One of their main duties is to serve milk, sandwiches, and hot lunches to the student body. Preparing and serving these each day is a major operation.

The CLASS OF 1963 extends its gratitude for a job well done.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

There is only one word to describe the recently organized special class here at Coventry High School. This word is "optimal". The students which are assigned to this class are put into a program of education which is both satisfying to them and to the community.

Satisfaction for the student is assured because the instruction works around the positive aspects of his abilities. It builds upon what the student knows to a point of what the student potentially can do.

Satisfaction for the community is the end product which this program hopes to produce. The result will be a person who can, under his own capabilities, live independently from private or public support.

It is hoped that this program will provide the town of Coventry with able, hard-working citizens which will be a benefit to the community at large.

To the Class of 1963:

In history, literature and legend there are examples of victory and achievement which came about largely because someone had the desire to achieve. May you look to the future as a challenge to achievement, for true education goes far beyond facts and classrooms. Education also means experience and faith, courage and understanding — and, most of all, the ability to think and act.

1959 - 1960

FRESHMAN YEAR

As the class of '63 came through the doors of Coventry High school, the students realized that a challenge lay before them. Upon our arrival we were confronted with many new problems. One of our immediate obstacles was the election of class officers. Chosen to head our executive board was Sally Maxwell, ably assisted by Arthur McKinney, Vice President; Jacqueline Conley, Secretary; and Judiann Malley, Treasurer. Our social affairs were directed by Dale Perkins, chairman, and her four committee members, Martha Krucinski, Jane Lyons, Mark Hopkins, and Stephen Rice.

With the help of our advisor, Mrs. Anne Raymond, our freshman class sponsored many successful events, the first of which was a rollerskating party. As the year progressed a panel discussion was held to acquaint the freshmen with the school activities. Our last and most enjoyed event of the year was a Splash Party held at Raymond's Point. Despite the great down-pour it was a huge success.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

Our sophomore year found us more experienced in the ways of Coventry High School. Mrs. Anne Raymond, once again our class advisor, helped us in electing the following officers: Clinton Wardle, President; William Thomas, Vice President; Sally Maxwell, Secretary; and Joy Ann Stephen, Treasurer. Dale Perkins was once again elected to be chairman of our social committee. Judiann Malley, Edith Laurence, Daniel Donnelly, and Mark Hopkins were chosen to assist Dale in the forthcoming social activities. An Ice Skating Party was slated as the first event, followed by the formation of Bowling Teams in which members of the various homerooms participated. To crown our activities for another year, the annual Sophomore Dance was held, the theme of which was "Apple Blossom Time".

HISTORY

1961 - 1962

JUNIOR YEAR

To lead us through our junior year we elected Arthur McKinney, President; David Eccleston, Vice-President; Sally Maxwell, Secretary; and Joy Ann Stephen, Treasurer. Dale Perkins was once again elected to direct our social affairs for the coming year with assistance from Martha Krucinski, Jean Williams, Robert Lawrence, and George Strang. To help us in the important task of choosing our class rings we chose Ernest Wragg, chairman, Edith Laurence, Judiann Malley and Edwin White.

Activities held under the direction of Mrs. Claire Clary, were the annual Junior Christmas Dance, and the Junior Spring Dance. The year was highlighted by our Junior Prom and the crowning of our queen, Sally Maxwell. Our most important event of the year was when we formally became seniors on Class Day.

1962 - 1963

SENIOR YEAR

September finally arrived. The class of '63 proudly assumed the role of Coventry High School seniors. Happily and confidently we elected the following class officers: Arthur McKinney, President; William Thomas, Vice-President; Cornelia Scanlon, Secretary; and Alvah Hall, Treasurer.

Dale Perkins was once again elected Social Committee Chairman. Members of this committee are Joy Ann Stephen, Edith Laurence, George Strang, and Andrew Breton. The first social event of the year was the Senior Harvest Dance. We have much to look forward to this coming year. After final exams we will begin preparation for our Senior Banquet, Senior Ball, and finally, and most memorable of all, our graduation.

THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAMATION

Once a year before Thanksgiving, the governor sponsors a State-wide contest for high-school juniors and seniors. Proclamations are submitted by the various schools and evaluated by a governor's committee. Chosen to represent Coventry High School in this year's contest was the proclamation written by Cornelia J. Scanlon. State-wide her proclamation finished third, for which she received a plaque from the governor of Rhode Island John A. Notte Jr.

CORNELIA J. SCANLON

As the wall dividing the free world and communism stands in Berlin; as the island of Cuba, ninety miles from our shore, accepts the tools, the soldiers, and the political system of the Soviet Union; as Argentina, France, and a host of other countries are plagued with political strife and domestic unrest, we here in Rhode Island prepare to offer a Thanksgiving prayer.

Throughout the State as families gather around the traditional Thanksgiving dinner table, each person becomes a part of this prayer — this grateful acknowledgment to the Creator. We can not rightfully celebrate Thanksgiving without offering thanks for our friends and loved ones. From the first Thanksgiving Day three hundred forty-one years ago to the present time, many Americans have given their lives that we might live as a free people. For them we offer a prayer of gratitude, and for the living we adjure God's blessings and the fruits of the years to come.

We are fortunate in possessing a rich heritage. We are also fortunate that we live in a State endowed with natural resources and great beauty. Our cities are teeming with people and bustling with renewed vigor. Our suburbs are expanding and offering us new opportunities for the pursuit of happiness. We enjoy the opportunities which come with excellent schools and institutions of higher learning. For these things we are grateful.

We are thankful that God has given our nation success in exploring the vast reaches of our outer space; courage to intergrate its schools; readiness to defend its precious birthright, freedom; wisdom to steer its course through an ever-deepening sea of communism; and faith to trust in Him.

IN VIEW THEREOF, I, JOHN A. NOTTE JR., GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS, PROCLAIM THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1962, AS THANKSGIVING DAY, and beseech Him to continue to bless us.

May the rays of a rising sun on Thanksgiving Day be an omen of love and world peace. May the wall in the divided city be illuminated by its brilliance, the island — so near yet so far — be brightened by its glory, and all the strife-torn countries be sustained and encouraged by its glow.

NADYA WALL

SENIOR ESSAY

This year an essay contest was sponsored for the first time for the Coventry High School seniors. The only restriction was that the essay had to be contained in seven hundred words or less. The board of judges was composed of various Coventry High English teachers. Their final choice was the following winning essay written by Nadya Wall.

We, the human race, have always been at war. Each generation has witnessed the horrors of war, and the brutality and ugliness that war is. Each generation has known the suffering and the grief and the bitterness that war brings. Each generation has acknowledged the uselessness of war, and each generation has condemned the immorality and destructiveness of war. Yet each succeeding generation has failed to secure peace.

Primitive man relied on violence and brute force to settle his differences. He might have, for example, made war on another primitive man, perhaps from a different tribe, which worshipped different gods, spoke a different language, and had customs which seemed to the first primitive man, utterly foreign. Primitive men feared what they did not understand, and sought to destroy that which was different.

How much has the human race progressed since the days when primitive men lived on the earth? We have built big, bustling cities; we have invented and used great machines; and we have become prosperous. We have produced many beautiful works of art; we have constructed great universities; and we have educated ourselves. We have erected magnificent cathedrals, churches, minarets, mosques, and temples in which we worship our creator. We have also made a large number of scientific advances. We have almost conquered disease and even time itself. We have explored the world we live in, and now we are exploring the universe, and eventually, the mystery of life. Yes, we have done all of these magnificent things, but we still cannot govern ourselves to live in peace. The accomplishment of which we are proudest is our ability to produce terrible weapons. This is proof, beyond a doubt, that basically, we are still primitives. We are still seeking to destroy what we do not understand. We are still using weapons to settle our differences. The only difference between ourselves, the people of the "enlightened age", and our early ancestors, the primitives, is the fact that we have invented the ultimate weapon. There will be no survivors in the next war. The wonderful accomplishments of the human race will be lost forever.

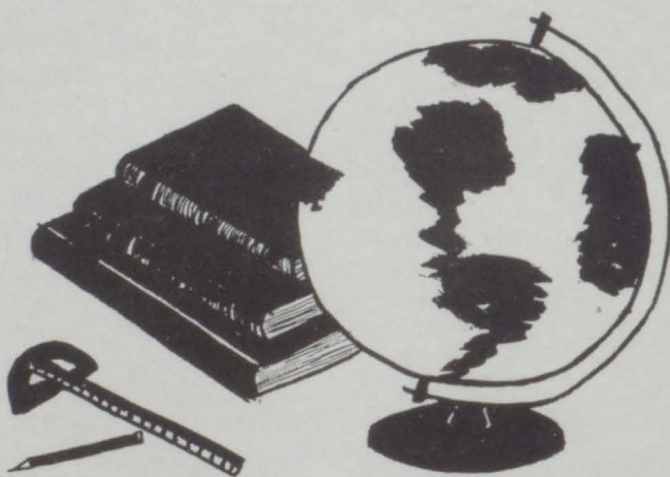

We must, as the new generation of adults, be objective in our thinking. We must concentrate our efforts to understand what is strange to us, not to destroy it. We must dispel from our minds and our hearts, any prejudiced or biased feelings. We must not be swayed by propaganda or carefully connotated words, chosen to produce undesirable feelings within us when read in a newspaper, or heard on the radio, television, or at a political rally.

There are some people, so warped and twisted with blind hatred, who encourage the possibility of a third world war. These are the same people who applaud the burning and lynching of Negroes, the anti-Semitic campaigns, and the exploitation of one man by another. These kind of people are repulsive to the majority of us, and yet they are going to determine the fate of mankind unless we have the courage of our convictions. We must stand up and defend what our religion and our consciences tell us is right. Do we have enough faith in our ideals to live by them? Will the human race exterminate itself in a third world war, or will we be able to show future generations that we were intelligent and mature enough to prevent a futile war that would have meant the extinction of the human race?

UNDERCLASSMEN

Something coming,
Don't know when
It's going to be here.
In a year,
Maybe three,
Two or four Possibly.

Could it be,
Yes, it could!
Passed this year,
As we should
Didn't flunk,
Didn't bunk.
Still they say,
"Tote those books,
Lift that pen!"
Dirty looks,
Detention again!

Could it be,
Yes it could.
Something coming,
Something good.
Look around,
Just say when,
The jovial underclassmen!

Amid the trials and tribulations of double sessions, the members of our Coventry High School newspaper, The Entry, have worked diligently to produce papers that are appealing to both the student body and the faculty. Under the guidance of Mr. Lemuel Crooks and Miss Rhoda Ostrow, the staff members have published the paper on a monthly basis. Meetings are held after the morning sessions whenever a paper is in the process of being printed.

Added features this year are eighth grade reporters and foreign correspondents. Through the combined efforts of the officers, the staff members, and the advisors, The Entry has enjoyed a fulfilling and productive year.

Madrigal in a strict meaning of the word means a short amorous or pastoral lyric; it is also defined as an unaccompanied chorus in from two to eight parts. It had its earliest beginning in the fifteenth century Italy.

A maximum of twenty voices make up the madrigal chorus. A very active program of participation is included as a purpose of the organization.

THE ALL-STATE CHORUS

The All-State Chorus, which is an activity of the Rhode Island Music Educators Association, is made up of students who have auditioned by singing solos and chorus parts and have been accepted by the judges. After being accepted they attended the All-State Senior High summer music camp held each year on the week before school begins. During this week the students rehearse in a chorus made up of accepted students from other schools in Rhode Island. As a culmination of their efforts they presented a concert at the University of Rhode Island on Friday evening. This valuable experience for the accepted students gave them an opportunity to sing in a selective chorus of better students throughout the state.

THE ALL-STATE BAND

The All-State Band is an activity of the Rhode Island Music Educators Association. The students who are accepted for this band must audition before a committee of judges by playing a solo, music scales, and performing a band part to a difficult composition.

The below students auditioned successfully and were accepted to attend a summer music camp held during the final week of summer vacation at the University of Rhode Island. During this week they rehearsed the All-State music with students selected from other schools in Rhode Island. A concert was held on the final day of the music camp for the parents and it was repeated during Teachers' Institute for the public.

Coventry Students Unite to Aid Town's Needy

'More Blessed to Give'

... For the past few weeks, pupils from grades eight to twelve have collected three truckloads of clothing and playthings which will be distributed to 29 families in the community. The families include more than 100 children who might otherwise have had a cheerless Christmas.

The charitable undertaking by the pupils sponsored by the STUDENT COUNCIL of the school started after the Thanksgiving vacation. Toys were collected and brought to the school, where dolls were washed, dressed in holiday finery, and packaged by members of the Home Economics classes. The boys have been exceptionally busy, too, repairing toys, seeing that they are put in working condition and doing all the manual labor ...

Under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Green, school nurse-teacher, the group sponsors many activities and aids the professional staff in many community projects, such as free polio and dental clinics and pre-school registration. Through these projects, the girls may obtain invaluable experience needed for their future careers, as well as becoming better citizens through community service. The club has visited many schools of nursing, the most recent of which include Roger Williams General Hospital and Rhode Island Hospital. The girls have also conducted many interesting programs at which the guest speakers have been both graduate and student nurses. As Coventry High grows, so does the interest in nursing increase and each week more girls are admitted to this active organization.

SATURDAY SEMINARS

Each year Coventry High School is offered to participate in the University of Rhode Island program of Saturday Seminars. The program is designed to create a broader understanding of the fields given in the minds of the participants. Courses are offered in mathematics, engineering, biology, laboratory applications of biological sciences, physics, oceanography, and chemistry. The qualified University professors are on a rotating schedule so that no class has the same teacher for the entire course. The participants in the program are specially chosen students and particularly interested in the courses that they attend. Mr. James K. Montague is the coordinator of the program here at Coventry High.

CLASS

Class Day, our last official day as seniors of Coventry High, was held on June 11, 1963. The traditional march of seniors down the aisles of the auditorium, which were flanked by junior girls, opened the ceremony. Following the singing of the Alma Mater, the class gift was accepted by Mr. Sheldon, and a gavel of authority was presented to Judith Tripp, junior class president. Excerpts from the Knotty Oak were read by yearbook staff members. The memorable event ended as the graduates marched from the assembly, and Class Day became another of our high school memories.
