"We had the best of educations -- in fact, we went to school every day -- "

"I'VE been to a day-school, too," said Alice. "You needn't be so proud as all that."

"With extras?" asked the Mock Turtle, a little anxiously.

"Yes," said Alice: "we learned French and music."

"And washing?" said the Mock Turtle.

"Certainly not!" said Alice indignantly.

"Ah! Then yours wasn't a really good school," said the Mock Turtle in a tone of great relief. "Now, at OURS, they had, at the end of the bill, 'French, music, AND WASHING, extra.'"

"You couldn't have wanted it much," said Alice; "living at the bottom of the sea."

"I couldn't afford to learn it," said the Mock Turtle with a sigh. "I only took the regular course."

"What was that?" inquired Alice.

"Reeling and Writhing, of course, to begin with," the Mock Turtle replied; "and then the different branches of Arithmetic -- Ambition, Distraction, Uglification, and Derision."

"I never heard of 'Uglification,'" Alice ventured to say. "What is it?"

The Gryphon lifted up both its paws in surprise. "Never heard of uglifying!" it exclaimed. "You know what to beautify is, I suppose?"

"Yes," said Alice doubtfully: "it means -- to -- make -- anything -- prettier."

"Well, then," the Gryphon went on, "if you don't know what to uglify is, you ARE a simpleton."

Alice did not feel encouraged to ask any more questions about it: so she turned to the Mock Turtle, and said "What else had you to learn?"

"Well, there was Mystery," the Mock Turtle replied, counting off the subjects on his flappers -- "Mystery, ancient and modern, with Seaography: then Drawling -- the Drawling-master was an old conger-eel, that used to come once a week: HE taught Drawling, Stretching, and Fainting in Coils."

"What was that like?" said Alice.

"Well, I can't show it to you myself," the Mock Turtle said: "I'm too stiff. And the Gryphon never learnt it."

"Hadn't time," said the Gryphon: "I went to the Classical master, though. He was an old crab, he was."

"I never went to him," the Mock Turtle said with a sigh: "he taught Laughing and Grief, they used to say."

"So he did, so he did," said the Gryphon, sighing in his turn; and both creatures hid their faces in their paws.

"And how many hours a day did you do your lessons?" said Alice, in a hurry to change the subject.

"Ten hours the first day," said the Mock Turtle: "nine the next, and so on."

"What a curious plan!" exclaimed Alice.

"That's the reason they're called lessons," the Gryphon remarked: "because they lessen from day to day."

This was quite a new idea to Alice, and she thought it over a little before she made her next remark. "Then the eleventh day must have been a holiday?"

"Of course it was," said the Mock Turtle.

"And how did you manage on the twelfth?" Alice went on eagerly.

"That's enough about lessons," the Gryphon interrupted in a very decided tone. "Tell her something about the games now."

May I say that I have loved me one or two
 Of the people in my past
 Fading faces in a waking dream
 And though they never seem to last very long
 There are faces I remember

From the places in my past...
 Sometimes I can laugh and cry
 And I can't remember why
 But I still love those good times gone by Hold on to them close or let them go.

INDEPENDENCE

American artist Charles Wilson Peale sketched cannons, such as this, while fighting in the Revolutionary War.

Marching diagram from "An Easy Plan of Discipline for a Militia."

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.
A DECLARATION
 BY THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
 IN GENERAL CONGRESS ASSEMBLED.

The Liberty Bell, first cracked when arriving from England, was recast in 1753. Long after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, it cracked again and was silenced forever in 1846.

The following is a quotation from Mr. Gray's address of Acceptance: "I am honored by it [the appointment] but I am also aware of the responsibilities which accompany it."

EXIT

To people, to places.
To present forever becoming past.
That life goes on -- on.
Something worth following.
Remembering.

Here the formal times are surrendered
to the camera's indifferent gaze...
And yet we want to believe
this is how it was...
This is the record
of our desired life...
But this history contains no evidence of aimless nights when the wilderness of ourselves sprang up to swallow the outposts of what we thought we were. Nowhere can we see tears provoked by anything but joy. There are no pictures of our brittle, lost intentions.
We burned the negatives that we felt did not give a true
account and with others made this abridgement of our lives.
