The 1980 edition of the Knotty Oak is proudly dedicated to Mr. C. Arthur Flori. The Yearbook Staff, administration, faculty, students, athletes, and all who have known you will forever be indebted to you for your guidance, understanding, and most of all for the dedication which has kept you here over the years. Mr. Flori, we thank you.

C. ARTHUR FLORI, A COVENTRY LEGEND

An illustrious and dedicated career has come to pass, as C. Arthur Flori bids farewell to Coventry High School after 33 years of distinguished service as Physical Education Department Head, teacher, coach, and Athletic Director. A status symbol among his fellow companions, Flori was the most influential force behind the Oakers rise to prominence on the Interscholastic level, leaving an outstanding trail of accomplishments on the local sports front.

A graduate of the University of Rhode Island, Flori attained Little - All America honors as an interior lineman under the legendary Frank Keaney. During the immediate post - war years, he reached even greater heights at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center in North Chicago, Illinois, where he coached the base's basketball squad to National Collegiate recognition. Flori began his prestigious career at Coventry in the fall of 1946 assuming the role of Athletic Director. He also coached the baseball and the basketball teams which were the only two sports on the school's curriculum at that time. However his prime mission was to restructure the Oaker's sports program. With Flori's guidance, athletics grew in stature to sixteen teams: the boy's can now participate in football, basketball, wrestling, hockey, soccer, track, golf, cross - country, baseball, and tennis; while the girls have basketball, gymnastics, track, volleyball, cross - country, and tennis, with club softball soon to join the fold.

Flori was the only mentor in Coventry sports history to hold three major coaching positions in one season: basketball, baseball, and football. He was personally responsible for the institution of the latter in 1948, and became that sports initial skipper. He has the distinctions of recording the Oaker's first grid triumph ever on November 5, 1949 - a 13 - 7 conquest of East Greenwich on Rice Field - as well as the school's initial grid shutout - 6 - 0 over Barrington on October 6, 1950. With football gaining popularity, Flori introduced night games to Coventry in 1952 under portable lighting, and later supervised the permanent installation of lights. Although he relinquished his baseball duties in the spring of 1949, Flori remained as head coach of football until that sport was dissolved for lack of interest after the conclusion of the 1952 season. His most beloved sport, however, was always basketball: Flori kept reigns until the end of the '57-'58 campaign, The 1956-57 and 1957-58 squads, both 10-4 in Class C, were the first to represent the Red and White in the schoolboy playoffs. Perhaps C. Arthur Flori's greatest pride was the formation of the Coventry Varsity Lettermen's Club in 1957. This is an organization for the student-athlete, that annually sponsors the school's athletic awards banquet - the highlight of the yearly sports calendar.

When the cry for the restoration of football and the inception of hockey echoed through the halls of Coventry in the mid-60's, Flori spurred the drive for those sports. Hockey quickly became the dominant team of the 60's and wrestling soon followed as king of the winter circuit through the 70's. When sports equality was challenged during the mid-70's, Flori built the foundation to incorporate girl's sports into Coventry High School's athletic program.

Though budget slashes severely crimped his efforts on several instances, as well as forced double-sessions, Flori somehow always managed to operate on a first rate level. His physical education classes became the epitome of others in his profession. Many former students sought his confidence and knowledge, advice he always was willing to share in his sincere, gentlemanly manner. Upon opening of the new high school, the Townsfolk and the School Committee paid him the highest esteem by naming the gymnasium in his honor, a merit truly deserving. Most recently he co-ordinated plans for the building of the Walter Clarke Athletic Complex, one of the finest facilities in high school ranks.

Thus an era unequalled by any other individual has drawn to an end at Coventry, but the fruits of his labor will always remain a cherished possession. The students, athletes and former athletes, faculty, administration, all wish him many years of health and happiness in his retirement.

A sepia-toned photograph of a wooden gate in a field. The gate is made of light-colored wood with horizontal rails and diagonal bracing. It is slightly ajar, revealing a path leading into a field of tall, dry grass. In the background, there are bare trees and a line of dark foliage. The overall mood is quiet and contemplative.

Nothing is lost on him who sees
With and eye that feeling gave;
For him there's a story in every breeze,
And a picture in every wave.

SENIORS

The Class of 1980 has started this final year at Coventry High School with a burst of enthusiasm and spirit which holds out promise for a truly memorable senior year and re-awakening of school spirit in general. A revival of the Christmas Dance, the Senior Play, and the Varsity Revue are milestones which you have had a part in bringing about. God bless each of you with the same enthusiasm and spirit as you take your places as adults in the world.

Joan Robertson
Senior Class Advisor

The class of 1980 has come to an end of three very happy and eventful years. Together, we have grown and changed during these years. We entered Coventry High School as Sophomores in 1977, during crucial times, but it was a sense of intense school spirit that helped us through these difficult times. Now we leave Coventry High with great ambition to start new lives. We all realize the responsibilities that our generation has to meet, and it is the experiences of these past three years that will enable us to carry out these obligations successfully. I wish each one of you success, health, and most importantly, happiness.
